MADISON — Today, Dane County Circuit Court Judge William Faust struck down Wisconsin’s right-to-work law. Over half the States have enacted right-to-work laws and no unions have prevailed in their challenges to these laws.

Attorney General Brad Schimel released the following statement in response to Judge Faust’s decision:

“We are extremely disappointed that the Dane County Circuit Court struck down Wisconsin’s right-to-work law, but we are confident the law will be upheld on appeal.”
