Office of Open Government Reports Its Mid-Year Performance Statistics for 2023

MADISON, Wis. - In an effort to continue operating transparently and ensure accountability, the Office of Open Government today reported its mid-year performance statistics for January through June 2023.

Completed Activities

- Responded to 398 public records requests (approximately 66 per month);
- Released public records reports, video, and audio files related to 5 officer-involved critical incident;
- Responded to 78 inquiries on its Public Records/Open Meetings Help Line (PROM);
- Issued 56 letters providing guidance concerning open government; and
- Provided 5 trainings and participated in educational presentations to governmental agencies and other outside groups on open government matters.

Response Times for Public Records Requests

According to the Wisconsin Public Records Law Compliance Guide, “DOJ has stated that, generally, 10 working days is a reasonable time for an authority to respond to a simple [public records] request for a limited number of easily identifiable records.”

The office continues to maintain a large percentage of responses fulfilled within this 10-working-day guideline while at the same time responding to a high volume of requests. During the first six months of 2023, the office:

- Responded to approximately 42% of public records requests within the 10-working-day guideline.
- Responded to approximately 16% of all requests in 3 calendar days or less and responded to approximately 23% of all requests in 7 calendar days or less.
- Mean (average) response time for all responses was 85 calendar days, which includes those that were broader in scope or required time-intensive review.
- Median (50th percentile) response time for all responses was 32 calendar days, meaning that the office responded to 50% of all requests in 32 days or less.

As seen in the two charts (below and next page), the office responded to 398 public records requests in the first six months of 2023, a large number of which were complex and required time-intensive review. This puts DOJ on pace to respond to nearly 800 public records requests this year, which would be the third-highest total ever.

Continuing Efforts

The office will continue to increase the public’s access to public records by posting the following information on its website:

- A snapshot of public records requests pending on Monday of each week;
- The average and median monthly response times for public records requests;
- Responses to citizen correspondence, posted quarterly;
- Specific responses to public records requests that may be of particular public interest or may be the subject of multiple requests for the same records;
- Records related to Officer-Involved Critical Incidents;
- “Ask the OOG” columns for frequently asked questions (FAQ’s); and
- Other open government information and resources.

The office reports directly to the Office of Attorney General. The office is headed by Assistant Attorney General Paul Ferguson, and is supported by one Records Forms Management Specialist-Advanced, one Records Forms Management Specialist, one Records Associate Program Associate-Advanced, one Records Program Associate-Advanced LTE, and several other attorneys and DCI employees within DOJ who regularly interact with the office.
